The screenshot shows a web browser window with the title "Gmail - Add a mail account you own - Internet Explorer provide...". The address bar contains the URL "https://mail.google.com/mail/?ui=2&ik=2cf73507f38&view=ma". The main content area has a yellow background and a green checkmark icon followed by the text "Your mail account has been added." Below this, it says "You can now retrieve mail from this account. Would you also like to be able to send mail as rick@domain.com?". There are two radio button options: "Yes, I want to be able to send mail as rick@domain.com." (which is selected) and "(you can change this later)". A "Next Step »" button is located to the right. A black callout box with white text says "Select Yes and click Next Step". Two red arrows point from the callout box to the selected radio button and the "Next Step" button.

The image shows a screenshot of the Gmail interface in Internet Explorer. The browser window title is "Gmail - Add another email address you own - Internet Explorer ...". The address bar shows the URL "https://mail.google.com/mail/?ui=2&ik=2cf73507f3&view=cf&cfmf=true&cfa=rick@donotpay". The main heading is "Add another email address you own". Below this, there is a sub-heading "Enter information about your other email address." followed by a note "(your name and email address will be shown on mail you send)". The form contains a "Name:" field with the text "Rick F" and a close button "x". Below it is an "Email address:" field with the text "rick@d" and a close button "x". There is a checkbox labeled "Treat as an alias." with a blue link "Learn more" next to it. Below the checkbox is a blue link "Specify a different 'reply-to' address" with "(optional)" in smaller text. At the bottom of the form are two buttons: "Cancel" and "Next Step »". Three black callout boxes with white text and red arrows point to specific parts of the form: "Type in full name" points to the Name field, "Unselect Treat as an alias. Make sure it is NOT checked." points to the checkbox, and "Then click Next Step" points to the "Next Step »" button.
